Senecio vitalis ‘Serpents’

- Use: Also known as blue chalk fingers, is an attractive, easy-care succulent with fleshy, chalky blue-green, finger-shaped leaves. Striking texture and color, perfect for a sunny, low-water garden. Easy care and drought tolerant but will tolerate irrigation. Attractive in containers.

- Exposure/Soil: Full sun to lightshade. Allow soil to dry out slightly between waterings. Fertilize blue chalk stick sparingly, as too much fertilizer weakens the plant and makes it more susceptible to disease and pests.

- Growth: At maturity, blue chalk stick reaches heights of 12 to 18 inches, with a spread of 2 to 3 feet.

- Hardiness: Zone 10-11; Annual, Houseplant

- Foliage: Densely packed narrow blue-green succulent leaves grow in a symmetrical fashion from sprawling fleshy stems.

- Flower: Not grown for flowers. White starry blossoms on branchy looking stems.
